

1

2

3

Three Levels of Alienator Behavior, proposed by Dr. Richard Gardner

Mild Alienators

- Parents have some discretion, conscious thought
- Children may show some reactions, some level of disinterest in parenting time

Moderate Alienators

- Parents who may have more engaged and more expressed distrust of the TP
- Children may show minimal affects if there is close to 50-50 shared parenting time. They are almost always conflicted.

Severe Alienators

- Parents are full of hatred, show delusion, and fabricate threats posed by the TP
- Children may show strong alliances with alienator, demonstrate effective brainwashing by the alienator.

4

Levels of Alienation, by Dr. William Bernet

Mild

Severe Moderate

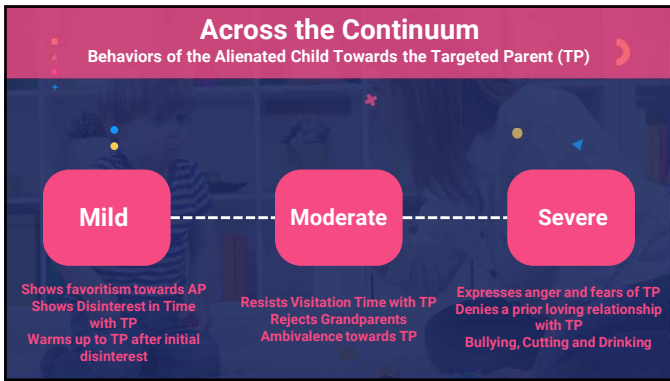

5

Across the Continuum

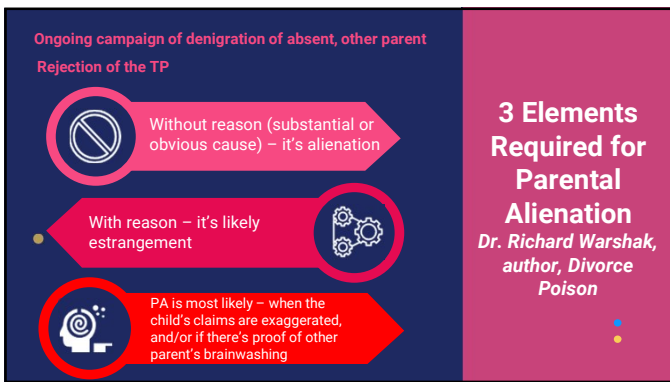

Behaviors of the Alienating Parent (AP) Towards the Child

| | | |
|--|---|--|
| Occasionally Badmouths TP Changes or cancels child's Time Sharing | Continued Bad Mouting Other Parent Obstruction of visitation | Make False Abuse Allegations Reinforces Child's Negative Attitude to TP |
| Mild | Moderate | Severe |

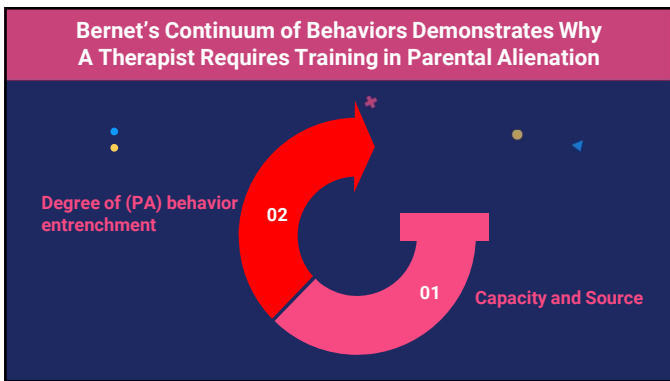

6

7

8

9

10

11
